

SOUTH EDINBURGH MEETING

March 2021

Emma Holiday

MEETINGS FOR WORSHIP

Some meetings may be resuming limited in-person meetings in future weeks, but we do not expect to be able to do this at the Open Door.

20-25 Friends each week have been joining our meetings via Zoom, every Sunday 10.30-11.30 am. After a 5 min break we then share conversation over coffee. After successful trials, on 1st and 3rd Sundays of each month we will share coffee in smaller breakout groups.

If you have technical problems joining, Martin Burnell has kindly offered to help. Joining instructions for Zoom meetings are sent in emails. You can find how to join our email list at <https://quakerscotland.org/south-edinburgh>

SPECIAL COLLECTION

Our collection in March will be for Britain Yearly Meeting. Through loss of lettings and other income it has seen a large deficit in 2020-21. Alison Burnley will speak to this. Ways to donate, including directly online, are listed at www.quaker.org.uk/donate

QUAKER EVENTS

Charities for 2021

A small group of Friends (Rici Marshall Cross, Deirdre Armstrong, Sue Noble, Susan Robertson and David Somervell) met via Zoom to discuss and evaluate the charities proposed for the Special Collections from February 2021 to January 2022. This is the resulting list.

Almost all of these accept direct donations online. It usually works to simply add /donate to the url shown. Or look for the Donate or Support button or link on the home page.

Morningside 100 years ago

Paterson's Farm, Jordan Lane Oral history from Dorothy L. Forrester in 2003

In the 1920s, we lived in Jordan Lane, in the biblical part of Morningside (with Nile Grove to the south, and Canaan Lane to the north). We got our milk from a farm along the lane, where there was a byre, a barn and a dairy - but no fields. The cows were fed on the grass and turnips which we saw being brought along the lane on horse-drawn carts. The cows no doubt remained there until their milk dried up, before being taken back to the country to be mated again, spending a few months in green fields. We used to take our metal pitcher to the Patersons' farm twice a day. If we were early, we might see the milk, fresh from the cow, flowing down the cooler. They must have had no other system of refrigeration, and the milk was certainly not pasteurised. The bottled milk from St. Cuthbert's Co-op probably was, but many people stubbornly preferred milk from the 'farm'. Much later, I discovered that it was one of a number of 'dry dairies' which had been supplying milk to Edinburgh since before the days of refrigeration and rapid transport. Ours continued until 1932.

<http://bit.ly/2w3HEog> takes you to a map on which many more snippets of South Edinburgh oral history, mostly to the East of Morningside though.

Maypole Dairies was the largest UK retailer of its day, with over 1,000 shops, the Tesco of 1920. The photos come from their shop in Morningside Road, now a charity shop for Chest Heart and Stroke. Its growth was based on margarine production from West African groundnut oil. There is a brief history on the shop window, or you can read a typically fascinating detailed account at the secretive Tom Farrell's impressive and extensive 'History of branded Britain' website <http://letslookagain.com> <https://bit.ly/3kqYJRB>

Children 20 years ago

Purchased from Aberdeen City Art Gallery, this poster hung in S's room from 1996-2000, when on February 19th, when he was 14, it was replaced by a poster of Buffy the Vampire Slayer.

Edwin Landseer (1802-73) was immensely successful, particularly famous for his often romantic or heroic paintings of animals. Some of his images were darker. (Wikipedia page: 96 views/day, versus Buffy the Vampire Slayer's 9,797)

Flood in the Highlands (Landseer, 1860)

Visual description from Aberdeen City Art Galleries: <https://youtu.be/f64LT80nYJc>

Aberdeen University has a poem about it in Doric (and more at www.abdn.ac.uk/elphinstone/kist/category/art)

Coos are deed. She is greetin!
Bairn, shhh, please!
The cat is ettin the eggs
Hens are feart
An the horses are feart

Bide on the reef, haud on ticht
Till the flood has gaen awa
We'll be fine
Sae bide up here!

NEWS

Meetings at Faslane – it seems unlikely that these can resume soon. But for when they can, provisional dates are/were: Mar 14, Apr 18, May 16, Jun 27, Sep 26 (? joint with NFPB), Oct 10, and Nov 14. Details as in Jan newsletter, or from Alison Burnley.

COP26 explained – BYM's Activism Support Coordinator, Oonagh Ryder, writes on the BYM blog about the COP26 meeting on climate change scheduled for Glasgow in November, and lists 6 things Quakers can do in preparation. Number 1: on Sat+Sun 10-11 April celebrate the natural world by making a short journey to any place that is sacred to you, take photos. <http://bit.ly/3bzcmtC> (there are some nice 'related posts' at the foot also)

Britain Yearly Meeting 2021 will be online only, 31 July to 8 Aug. www.quaker.org.uk/ym

Short of the month: Huntsville station

A commentary-free 14 min observation of men released from a Texas gaol as they pass through the nearby bus station. Uncertainty, anxiety, hope, maybe some despair, and a lot of wasted years. So personal you feel an intruder looking in on it. <https://vimeo.com/499782087>

Our newsletter is usually published on the last Sunday of each month. Gherkins with strawberries to neilturn@gmail.com

HAPPY BIRTHDAY

To Ben, who will be 16 on the 18th. An age so mature that this is the last time you will appear in this section till you are 70.

Are there ghosts in your house?

If your street is Victorian or earlier, find out who they could be in three complicated steps that doctors are completely happy that you understand:

ONE Find out who was living there from Post Office directories. Find Edinburgh 1846-1911 at <https://digital.nls.uk/directories/browse/archive/83686240> – for 1911 substitute /84310796 at the end of the url)

In the directory, search for your street name. It will come up with many hits, but one of them quite far down will be a number by number list of householders.

Kilgraston Road. 4.
Grange Road.
1A	Moncrieff, Miss
1A	Paterson, Robert A.
1	Lawson, George
Grange Parish Church
3	Bliss, Mrs Joseph
5	Wallace, Dr Robert Neilson
5	Wallace, Mrs R. S.
7	Stark, Mrs
9	Smith, Mrs Henry, Norwood
