The Quaker Way Ahead

Meeting for Sufferings has asked the Long-term Framework Working Group to seek to discern the broad vision of Quakers in Britain. In a letter to meetings they say:

We ask local meetings, area meetings and other Quaker groups and individuals to discern what we are led to do together. We offer these questions as prompts to you in your discernment:

1. What is distinctive about Quaker work and witness, to us and to others?
2. What is your vision of the ministry that your local meeting and Quakers in Britain are called to, now and in the future?
3. What are we led to do together?
4. How could Quaker structures and networks help Quakers in Britain to flourish?
5. Any other feedback (note that it is not intended to list specific projects or programmes)

If you can help us with our discernment, please respond by 31st January.

We will be considering this in South Edinburgh at our Meeting for Business on 18th January. You can find out more, and reply individually to these questions online at www.quaker.org.uk/way-ahead Postal replies to Peter Sender (The Way Ahead), Friends House, 173 Euston Road, London NW1 2BJ or email lff@quaker.org.uk.

WW1 school resources

QPSW has produced two very good leaflets, Conscience aimed at primary and Conviction at secondary schools, on WW1. Download from quaker.org.uk/conscience-and-conviction Paper copies £5 each, quakercentre@quaker.org.uk or 0207 663 1030.

The Ballad of Donal Og (poetic Christmas present)

This 8th century Irish ballad was most beautifully translated by Lady Augusta Gregory a hundred years ago in Galway, into English as spoken there. Here are just verses 1, 4 and 8 of nine:

It is late last night the dog was speaking of you;
the snipe was speaking of you in her deep marsh.
It is you are the lonely bird through the woods;
and that you may be without a mate until you find me.

You promised me a thing that is not possible,
that you would give me gloves of the skin of a fish;
that you would give me shoes of the skin of a bird;
and a suit of the dearest silk in Ireland.

My heart is as black as the blackness of the sloe,
or as the black coal that is on the smith's forge;
or as the sole of a shoe left in white halls;
it was you put that darkness over my life.

The whole poem appears in various anthologies and is freely available online, for example at bit.ly/1wnhsOm

The Wikipedia entry on Isabella Augusta Gregory is well worth a read too.

MORE NEWS AND DATES

Sylvia represents Quakers on the Morningside committee for Christian Aid and would welcome Quaker support at a Christian Aid coffee morning at Morningside Parish Church Hall (foot of Braid Rd) on Sat Dec 3rd, 10-Noon. £3 at door.

Christmas Day lunch at Victoria Terrace – there will be a list in the library at 7VT if you'd like to go and/or help prepare. Further information from Annie Miller or Jim Pym.

Wiston weekend 2015 is arranged for 4-6 Sep.

What we've been watching (films)

The Lunchbox – beautifully told tale from modern Mumbai with strong echoes of Brief Encounter (1945), but with less encountering. HSC

The Imitation Game – about Alan Turing, Enigma, the disgrace of being gay in the 1950s. Women report even that Keira Knightley comes over well in this. LLP

Your 30 word reviews of things welcome too

The newsletter is usually distributed on the last Sunday of each month. Send things you'd like to see to neilturn@gmail.com.

You can read this and more interesting things at quakerscotland.org/south-edinburgh

Winter Hibernation

Our next issue will be circa 18th January and will cover February too. Please send suggestions by 11th Jan.

This is in place of the usual deadline of the 2nd last Sunday of each month.

HAPPY BIRTHDAY

~~No young birthdays in Dec or Jan.~~ Correction: No young South Edinburgh Quaker birthdays in Dec or Jan. Let us know if untrue!
